A Big Warm Welcome to the Washington County Observer!!

It's wonderful to have a weekly paper back again. All four free issues have come and gone; now it's time to send in our subscription forms. We definitely want it to continue for a long time and it will take our subscriptions and lots of local advertising for this to happen.

Something else the WC Observer is looking for are volunteer local columnists. If you remember the original Observer, several people sent in weekly columns on the happenings in their local "neck of the woods." These columns added human interest to the paper and the editors would love to see it again in this paper. If you are interested in penning a column, weekly, monthly, or just occasionally give Steve Winkler or Susan McCarthy a call at 479-839-2121.

Special events such as birthdays, anniversaries, births, awards, etc, are another item of interest that can be sent in. There are forms at the Winslow Library that you can pick up and fill out to make it easy for you. Perhaps you had visitors from out of town and want to share it, or someone has been ill and wants to say Thank You for the remembrances, maybe you saw or photographed a bear, a bobcat, an unusual occurrence in your backyard. There are a million different things to share with the readers of the paper.

If you noticed the classified ads are really reasonable, only $5.00 for 20 words. If you are having a yard sale or have something to sell this is a perfect place to advertise it. If you are looking for something to buy the same thing holds true.

Whatever the situation or occasion the Washington County Observer will rise to the challenge and get it out in print for you. Let's give them our wholehearted support!!!!

Friends of the Library News.....

By Linda Dysart

Could the fact that I'm seeing more and more robins in my backyard mean that Spring is really around the corner?? Friends of the Library are sooooo.. ready for our monthly bake sales downtown. The hustle and bustle of the recycling, coffee and chatting at the Mercantile, farmer's market and our bake sale just make a first Saturday of the month complete! We're back downtown this Saturday the 6th and hope to see everybody there to enjoy the goodies that only our good cooks in Winslow can produce.

Along with the excitement of getting back downtown, we're also looking forward to some fundraisers, book sales, pancake breakfasts and other events that seem to be fitting for a little warmer weather. Come join us as we meet the first Monday of every month at 4 p.m. We'd love to have anyone visit, then join us for a fun and busy time this Spring and Summer.

Home Sweet Home

By Ginger Fritch

Last month I thought all the bad things for the year had already happened. I'd better quit thinking for myself. On Feb. 4th I had mild stroke that left me an invalid. After 3 weeks in Rehab learning how to feed myself with fork or spoon, drink from a cup or glass, I'm finally home, but still need the care of a 4 week old baby, except I don't need to be burped.

One of my dear sisters came from Waynesville, MO to help Carl take care of this huge baby. My daughter Hovette Ellis will fly in from Los Angeles on Saturday to take over. My local kids, Kathie Jackson, Kelly Schulze and Blaine Schulze plus niece Elsie Brock drop in and out daily. Bless them each and everyone. Christy Wilson comes daily also to do whatever we need.

Sure want to thank everyone for all the cards, flowers, stuffed animals and candy, but most of all Thank You for all your prayers!! It's so good to be home. My junk never looked so good! We all hope and pray the use of my left hand comes back and that soon I will be able to walk again!

A Big Special Thank You to Daniel Smith. My caregivers can't get me into the van without him. When I have to go somewhere, one call and he's right there.

Addition to above: By Jo Kyle

I talked to Carl on Saturday and Ginger fell on Friday, had to be taken to the ER and have seven stitches in her head.

Ginger, I miss you, it's not the same working on Within Winslow without you.

Ozark Folkways: The Dream Lives On!

By Rebecca Buchanan

Ozark Folkways Board of Directors, Advisers, and Executive Director, Rebecca Buchanan, wants to extend a special THANK YOU! to Elaine and the crew at Grandma's House for honoring Ozark Folkways with a "Chicken, Chili and Pies" fundraiser on February 27th. What a wonderful gift! We had so many kind words, comments and AMENS to Elaine's cooking, especially her PIES!

We also want to thank the entire community of Winslow, the good folks from Ft. Smith and all over Northwest Arkansas and of course, many of our 700 plus Ozark Folkways Facebook Fans for coming out to support us.

We are happy to report that we raised over $2000 for the good work of Ozark Folkways!

We have also raised, so far, $175 in raffle tickets on another fantastic donation we received recently, a beautiful stained glass window, valued at over $600 from David and Joo Soos. Remember, we have raffle tickets on sale at the shop through May, so stop in and see the beautiful stained glass art and make a donation for tickets. Donations are $2 per ticket or 6 for $10.

Again, thank you all so much for your support. At Ozark Folkways, The Dream Lives on!

LOCAL WRITER VELDA BROTHERTON SCHEDULED TO APPEAR AT WINSLOW LIBRARY

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 2010 AT 1 P.M.

TEN YEARS IN THE MAKING, HER BOOK:

THE BOSTON MOUNTAINS: LOST IN THE OZARKS

. . . chronicles the lives of settlers in Franklin, Madison, Crawford and Washington Counties in the Boston Mountains of the Arkansas Ozarks. Using stories and 137 photographs the author guides readers to the lost communities, and tells stories of how people lived, worked, worshiped and played during the 1800s.

Using interviews, research and photography, Brotherton has brought to life the history of our ancestors in a way only a writer of her experience could do. With a bit of storytelling magic, she gathers her readers and leads them by the hand into the shadows of the past to enjoy her "Stories Woven in Time."

SHE WILL ALSO PRESENT HER OZARK COOK BOOK:

ARKANSAS MEALS AND MEMORIES: LIFT YOUR EYES TO THE MOUNTAINS

. . . which contains 150 authentic recipes from her mother's collection of 70 years borrowed from the best cooks in the Boston Mountains. Stories of growing up in the Ozarks during the Great Depression are found throughout its pages as are valuable photographs of the early days.

She will appear at the library with copies of her books on Thursday, April 22 at 1 p.m. to share her experiences.

Hello Everyone: My sympathies to the families and friends of Bob Combs and Dean Samples of Winslow who both passed away recently. I understand that Bob was still sitting in his truck in his front yard after going to recycle newspapers. We don't know when our time to leave this earth is scheduled so make each day count and let your family and friends know you love them.

One of our elders, Jennifer Stiles, drove to Batesville for a Presbytery meeting last Friday. She said the four and half-hour trip took seven hours because of the big truck wreck on I-40.

My friend, Vonnie Hill and I drove to Tulsa on Friday. My son, Michael, had written down explicit directions to the motel and to the Mardel Christian Bookstore where I was to do a Vacation Bible School Presentation the next day. I drove right to the motel using Michael's directions. After checking in, I drove to Mardel's to make sure I knew how to get there. On the bottom of Michael's directions, he had put 'to get back to motel.....reverse steps.' I got lost! I was in the wrong lane and missed my exit and ended up about five miles out of town!

We finally found the right exit and our motel! I'd never been to that part of town before. It seems like I always have that kind of an adventure whenever I go out of town. I just call it 'sight-seeing.'

Happy anniversary wishes to Richard and Mary Smith who will celebrate their (I believe) 61st anniversary on Friday, the 26th.

Don't forget the fundraising dinner at Grandma's Café in Winslow this Saturday. You can enjoy a great meal and help support Ozark Folkways at the same time.

Eddie Vick (Talk of the Town beauty shop) has two female beagle puppies to give away. She hopes to give them both to someone who really loves dogs. If interested, please give her a call at 839-3184.

My nine-year-old granddaughter was given a prescription for medication for her ears. The pharmacy put "put drops in eyes four times a day." No kidding! Better check how your prescription reads.....it might be different than you think!

Our pastor and his wife of Fayetteville are really enjoying the Observer. Margaret said she really hopes the paper will be a success. I do too. If you enjoy the paper, remember this is your last free issue. Get your subscription and keep up with the local news and the happenings of the schools and the city council.

Remember the list of the seven deadly sins that was formulated during the sixth century: lust, gluttony, greed, sloth, vengeance, envy and pride. Did you know that the sin of sadness was also included in the original list?

Until next time: resist any tendency to let sadness dominate you. Be joyful for joy is a fruit of the Spirit that's always in season.

I am substituting Sandra's poem this month, which I think is quite witty.

Lonnie Trent

CPAC Attack

By Sandra Trent

Conservative faithful mass in a rage,
Congregating on a reinforced stage.
The forces of darkness gather as well,
As C Street tolls the liberal death knell.

Go-Proud, Go-Loud, Go-GOP

Dismiss President as addlepat,ed,
Healthcare, after all, is overrated.
Welfare? No way! Let's get budget-flinty,
For is this not the land of Pawlenty?

Go-Proud, Go-Mitt, Yet Not Too Fit

A mini-skirted blonde struts to the fore,
Berating heathen gays and unwashed poor.
Her Adam's apple throbs, undulates glee,
Fueled by vodka-tonics, wine and some Brie.

Go-Proud, Go-Pray, Team USA

Beck bloviates, and with nary a woof,
Castigating libs and their cloven hoof.
A stormfront gathers, ominous and pale,
Who will remain to spin the warriors' tale?
A forlorn tear adorns his Aryan cheek,
God will shun the politically meek.
Proud to proclaim his lack of degree,
The crowd exalts: We're education free!

Go-Proud, Go-Free, Book-Burning Free

ON THE BACK ROADS OF ARKANSAS

By Christina Eichstedt

Moving to Arkansas from our neighboring state of Oklahoma has proved to me that not all Midwest states are one in the same. I noticed at first when driving around many back roads in and around our small towns of West Fork, Elkins, and the ever charming, Winslow. As I drove down these narrow, sometimes winding, sometimes dirt roads and I saw a car coming at me on the other side of this small road, I was afraid that I might be run off the road! Spoken like the city-girl I've been all my life, I know, but I was concerned! The car approached slowly and waved as he went by and at first I simply thought it was a wave that implied a "Thank you for not running ME off the road" or perhaps a "Thank you for not speeding down this road that my children ride their bikes on" and I continued on down the road. I was soon happily surprised to find that this little scenario happened every time I passed a car; time after time with every car I passed I was waved at, given a nod, or smiled at. Sometimes, I got all three from one passing car.

Unfortunately, most people just don't think to do things like that anymore and in a big city like Tulsa, OK it's unheard of. Instead, you might actually get run off the road if you aren't going fast enough or if you're in someone else's way and they happen to be in a hurry. You'll definitely get honked at and nine times out of ten, if you get a hand gesture it isn't one of a friendly nature, if you get my drift. This really made me sit back and think about the many differences between city life and country living and it made pay closer attention to the people both in Fayetteville and back in Tulsa. I soon saw that it wasn't just the back roads of Arkansas; the people of Fayetteville were just as nice. I watched people as I went to eat in town or went shopping at some major chain stores and I noticed how polite and friendly everyone was and it wasn't just the employees! Perfect strangers quickly become your new best friend in Arkansas and coming from a large city where people don't take the time to say hello, this meant a lot to me.

I realized there is a very big difference between these two states, people are nicer in Arkansas, they're friendly and welcoming and I'm sad to say that you just don't get that in Oklahoma and I haven't seen that camaraderie amongst neighbors and fellow human beings in quite some time. It is a sad thought to realize that mankind, at least in some parts of this crazy world haven't forgotten what it's like to be the stranger, to be the one down on their luck, or to feel that they haven't a friend in the world. Perhaps it's because of the beauty we have in the state of Arkansas or maybe there's just something in the water here but it's certainly a pleasant sort of feeling that you get when strangers offer to help or simply offer a friendly hello to someone they don't know. I'm confident in my decision to become a "Winslownian" and I look forward to meeting each of you with a smile on the road.

NEVER Scrape
Your Windshield Again!

Disposable!!
Easy To Use Windshield Covers

It's One Of A Kind!

Without Frosty Fender

With Frosty Fender

The Frosty Fender “Disposable Windshield Cover” delivers a very convenient and affordable solution to a common problem: an easy, time-saving method for removal of frost, snow and ice from the windshields of all vehicles in less than 20 seconds.

Made of 1.0 mil polyethylene plastic, the covers are packaged in boxes of six each to carry in a vehicle. When the vehicle is parked, a cover can be pulled from the box and placed on the windshield. Dropping specifically designed tabs inside the vehicle and closing the doors on them secures the cover.

Then, accumulated frost, snow and ice can be removed easily—almost instantly—by removing the cover from the windshield. The cover is then disposed of and a clean, fresh one is removed from the box the next time the vehicle is parked.

This product will save consumers 10 to 30 minutes spent removing frost, snow and ice from windshields using other methods. It will also save on fuel consumed by vehicle engines left running to heat up the windows before and during the usual scraping ordeal.

The Frosty Fender product can be used to remove snow and ice, however the primary use will be frost removal. Travellers, rental-vehicle users, workers who must park in uncovered lots—virtually anyone who drives when frost, ice and snow can accumulate on a parked vehicle can easily grasp how convenient, easy-to-use Frosty Fender disposable windshield covers can dramatically reduce the hassles of dealing with an irritating problem.

The Frosty Fender disposable windshield cover requires about two minutes to put on and 10 seconds to remove. The windshield is then free of frost, snow or ice.

Because Frosty Fender covers the entire windshield, the temptation to just scrape a small area is eliminated and good practices on meeting visibility requirements are more easily met.

TOJO BECOMES MOSES

Names for my dogs are a problem for me and sometimes, inappropriate. This was the case of a Cocker mix I found in a WalMart parking lot as a result of following the "dog catcher's" truck. He turned down the wrong isle and met me and the dog at another isle. I yelled to him "If the dog comes to me, he's mine!!"

I lured this limping creature to my truck with a stale donut. In he went and I waved to the dog catcher. As I left the lot and headed to my vet. He told me that this dog was in good condition except he had probably been hit by a car at one time. When I took him home, he was separated from the others and put in a chain link pen in a corner of the backyard. The other inside dogs "met" him through the fence... wary and unfriendly. So there he stayed until it began to get cold weather.

It was forecasted to rain, sleet and have cold temperatures so (dumb me) I practically wrapped the plastic doghouse in a tarp thinking this would be best. The rain came; the sleet was merciless and so was the cold temperature. I kept looking out the window to check on him but still had an uneasy feeling. Well, when I went to check more closely, there he sat, shaking, wide-eyed among icicles hanging from the ceiling of the doghouse. I picked him up immediately, brought him to the house and made him a member of the family! The others were still wary but this warmed-up, wonderful dog was so grateful, he flew at my leg like a kamikaze and began to hump. That's when I named him Tojo.

A lady called who was interested in Charlie but, when they met, both were "ho-hum" about each other. She asked if there were others and, hesitant to tell her how many others, I let Tojo in for a visit. This was the first time I ever saw a true bonding...and it happened in my kitchen with these two. Exciting? Oh yes, but I didn't really understand how miraculous until I heard "the rest of the story."

His new owner renamed him "Moses" because he'd been "reborn." Her husband was disabled and Moses became her best friend and confidant. She gave testimonials about Moses to her church's members. Rescuers dream of homes like her home!!!

WE NEED YOUR HELP!!!!

The Brentwood Community Church is trying to raise money for a young father and husband that needs a liver transplant.

Robbie Curtis is a 41 year old father of a five year old and husband to Lisa. He was very sick for several months, but none of the doctors could find out what was wrong. He lost his job, and also his insurance. A few months later and lots of Doctor visits and an emergency hospitalization, a trip to Little Rock and a liver Biopsy, Robbie was told his liver was no longer working. After several tests they found out he has Nash Disease. It is rare and a complication of diabetes. It caused non alcoholic cirrhosis of the liver and pseudo hepatitis. He needs a liver transplant.

Wow, what a winter we have had!!!! Now spring is in the air, thank you Jesus;)

We have had a hard winter, but the blessings have been many.

We have fellowship dinners the last Sunday of every month. Every one is welcome. That would be the perfect time to come and visit. Free Food !!!!

HELPING HANDS FOOD PANTRY

The economy is still hitting alot of people hard. If you need just a little help to get you through we can help. Please contact Pastor Jim at 466-8491 and leave a name and number and he will contact you.

If anyone wants to donate, we will welcome non expired food items or monatory donations.

Brentwood Community Church is a non denominational, non judgemental church, located in the beautiful Brentwood area. We would love to have you come and join us to worship our Lord Jesus.

Sunday School 10:00
Morning Worship 11:00
Wed. Night Bible Study 6:00

Need a ride to church? please call Pastor Jim in advance at 466-8491

God Bless you
Pastor Jim

Because his wife is working full time (she does not have insurance benefits) they have to apply for Medicaid every three months. Until he is on it full time they will not pay for the Liver transplant. Until 2 weeks ago, and calls to Senators Lincoln and Boozman, Robbie couldn't get disability because every time he had a social security scheduled doctors appointment he was in the hospital. Even after he receives that he might have to wait on Medicare and then see if they pay for liver transplants.

Even if he gets insurance to pay for the transplant he needs pre medications that are several thousand dollars. There is care account set up at Arvest Bank and anyone can make donations by going in and donating to Robert Curtis Liver Transplant donations account. Any Arvest bank will take donations.

Brentwood Community Church is having a Benefit Concert for this young couple on March 27th at 6:00. The Gospel Son Lighters will be there.

Please help us help this young couple. Their daughter needs her daddy and Lisa wants her husband to live. He will not unless we help.
Thank you for your help

The Pastor's Pen

From Larry Smith Shared by an anonymous doctor

A couple of days ago I was running (I use that term very loosely) on my treadmill, watching a DVD sermon by Louie Giglio... And I was BLOWN AWAY! I want to share what I learned... But I fear not being able to convey it as well as I want. I will share anyway.

He (Louie) was talking about how inconceivably BIG our God is... How He spoke the universe into being... Then He went on to speak of how this universe creating God ALSO knitted our human bodies together with amazing detail and wonder. At this point I am LOVING it (fascinating from a medical standpoint, you know)... And I was remembering how I was constantly amazed during medical school as I learned more and more about God's handiwork. I remember so many times thinking.. 'How can ANYONE deny that a Creator did all of this???'

Louie went on to talk about how we can trust that the God who created all this, also has the power to hold it all together when things seem to be falling apart... how our loving Creator is also our sustainer.

And then I lost my breath. And it wasn't because I was running my treadmill, either!!! It was because he started talking about laminin. I knew about laminin. Here is how Wikipedia describes them: 'LAMININS are a family of proteins that are an integral part of the structural scaffolding of basement membranes in almost every animal tissue.' You see.... Laminins are what hold us together.. LITERALLY. They are cell adhesion molecules. They are what holds one cell of our bodies to the next cell. Without them, we would literally fall apart. And I knew all this already. But what I didn't know is what they LOOKED LIKE.

But now I do. And I have thought about it a thousand times since (already).. Here is what the structure of laminin looks like... AND THIS IS NOT a 'Christian portrayal' of it!! If you look up laminin in any scientific/medical piece of literature, this is what you will see...

Now tell me that our God is not the coolest!!! Amazing. The glue that holds us together..... ALL of us.... Is in the shape of the cross. Immediately Colossians 1:15-17 comes to mind.

'He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. For by him all things were created; things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things were created by him and for him. He is before all things, and in Him all things HOLD TOGETHER.' (Colossians 1:15-17)

Call me crazy. I just think that is very, very, very cool. Thousands of years before the world knew anything about laminin, Paul penned those words. And now we see that from a very LITERAL standpoint, we are held together... One cell to another... By the cross. You would never in a quadrillion years convince me that is anything other than the mark of a Creator who knew EXACTLY what laminin 'glue' would look from the very beginning!

What an amazing God...what an awesome God... and we are made in his image...now I understand.

Chapter 13

“Barmaid in High Heels”

By Arlen Davidian

© December 28, 2003

She was big and she was beautiful and she was stunning in her trademark red high heels. She moved behind the bar with the smoothness of a phantom whose form was transparent but solid in its commanding presence as she slid drink after drink along the bar to her adoring patrons. The rustle of her miniskirt each time she stooped to pull a new bottle from the cooler behind the bar drew glances from her audience who ogled through blurred eyes for a glimpse of skin or a bit of cleavage from under the low-cut line of her blouse.

Flo was the queen of the river front. She said little, but her subtle smile lit a spark in every patron that gave him hope that tonight might be the night that this diva serving drinks would choose to leave with him. But each night she would graciously and tenderly make the last call then gently but firmly usher her admirers out the door, or guide those unfit to drive toward a called up waiting cab.

Every patron that came to the bar night after night went away knowing that he would be in Flo's dreams when she lay down to catch a few hours sleep before she went to her second mysterious job in the morning. But each night the last call would be made and the bar would be empty as she stacked the chairs on the tables and swept the floor. Then as quietly as she moved behind the bar, she would pull the door shut behind her, slide the key into the lock then step into her waiting cab.

On a hot sultry night, a stranger sat near the painted window along the abandoned sidewalk. He was coddling a tall mug of draft beer between his crusty hands and stared at the head of foam as if counting the bubbles as they burst. One by one the bursting bubbles left a tiny void where they once formed a cocoon enshrouded in a thin canopy of beer.

As if performing the prescribed procedures of a ritual, the stranger would lift his mug to his lips leaving a narrow line of foam on his dark mustache. With each sip of beer, he would quietly set his mug back on the table and continue counting bubbles. When the last speck of foam had slid down the side of the glass leaving a golden disk at the bottom of the mug, he would look up and without words call for a refill with his black eyes glistening from under the wide brim of his Stetson.

Flo slid the empty mug across the table and sat it on her tray. She replaced it with a mug brimming over with a head of draft beer that spilled down the side of the chilled glass leaving a wet circle on the dry paper of a fresh napkin. The stranger didn't look up as he peeled three one dollar bills from the top of a stack in the center of the table and slid them toward Flo. He lifted his massive hand just enough to let her know that the change was for her, then resumed coddling his fresh mug and counting the bursting bubbles.

It was late when Flo made her last call. She was working feverishly behind the bar getting the drinks ready so she could deliver them to the tables before the clock on the wall struck two. Spinning around she set four frozen mugs on the counter and stared into the barrel of an automatic pistol resting lightly in the steady hand of the towering stranger she had just served.

The stranger flicked the end of the barrel just slightly toward the cash register. With his left hand he slid a zippered bag across the counter. Two stunned patrons sat at a table by the wall, and a man leaned against the padded rail at the end of the bar, his bottle of beer suspended just above the smooth surface of the rosewood top.

The stranger looked back at Flo and flicked the pistol again.

"In the bag," he said quietly, pointing his pistol down the bar.

Flo stared at the barrel of the pistol pointed at her chest. It looked as big as a cannon, then its gigantic size began to dwindle in her mind as the reality of the situation began boiling on a rising tide of anger in her mind. She started to move toward the register, then without warning she heaved four mugs in the face of the stranger. As he staggered back, she caught the toe of her high heel shoe on the edge of the ice machine's hopper. Shoving hard, she pushed her body forward and up, clearing the rail of the service deck and hitting the stranger full in his startled face as he retreated backwards from the onslaught of four mugs pummeling him simultaneously in the forehead, face and chest.

The force of Flo's frame and the weight of her ample bosom drove the stranger back as she grappled for anything of substance on which to hang on as the two hit the floor with a thud. The momentum and the force of gravity pulling the flying barmaid down on top of the stranger sent the pistol skittering across the floor as his head met the resistance of the hardwood. The sound of two bodies slamming down lingered for a moment that seemed to stretch on for a myriad seconds to the stunned patrons. Then silence settled in to fill the gap where the sounds of violence had loomed.

Flo lay still for a moment, the abundance of her thighs straddling the slender waist of the stranger pinned to the floor. She breathed in heavily waiting for the next move from the man beneath her whose face was buried in her bosom.

There was a snicker from across the room, then laughter. Flo struggled to push herself up onto her hands and gazed into the terrified eyes of her assailant. He didn't move, but stared gasping desperately for air.

A feeling of compassion welled up from within Flo. It was a feeling she couldn't explain. A feeling that shouldn't be there, but one she couldn't control. Sadness rushed into the back of her mind, but was overpowered by the anger that drove her over the bar and into the face of her enemy. Rolling onto her side, she leaned on her elbow and watched the supine form of the man who moments ago seemed a giant, but who had morphed into the form of a boy. Pushing herself to her feet, she pulled out a chair and sat watching and wondering how a quiet evening had suddenly turned violent, then reverted as suddenly to a crushed silence shattered only by the cacophony of coughing and gasping of this man who had moments ago been the epitome of strength and control.

A stream of exploding light burst into the room as two police officers stepped in and planted themselves on the hardwood floor with their hands on their pistols. They stared at the man sitting on the floor surrounded by three grinning men and a woman sitting in a chair.

"This the joker who tried to rob you, Miss Flo?" The first officer to enter asked.

Flo nodded. She felt a hand on her shoulder. It was the patron who spent each evening sitting at the end of the bar. She patted his hand.

The officers pushed the assailant to the floor, cuffed him, then lifted him to his feet. Flo looked up into the subdued eyes of a giant of a man who moments ago seemed so small. He towered above her as he stood with his hands behind him locked in the grasp of the cuffs snapped around his wrists.

"I thought I was going to die," he said staring at Flo's bosom bursting from her blouse with each breath. "I thought I was going to suffocate in a mountain of boobs," he said looking over his shoulders as the officers ushered him out the door.

Kids Korner

Key Kids, A “blooper” is usually thought of as a funny mistake that happens to someone. Sometimes the end result is funny, but sometimes not so funny. Below are some blooper pictures for you to color. And then, on the lines after the pictures, write about a funny mistake that has happened to you.

BUDGET BLOOPERS

By Gordon Botting, DrPH, CHES

Two of America's favorite television programs over the years have been “Candid Camera” and “America’s Funniest Home Videos.” We laugh and sometimes cry as we watch people do the silliest and dumbest things, such as underestimating their speed and crashing into a wall or window, or overestimating their ability to stand on a narrow wall and falling into the mud puddle below. Other times, it is that unexpected moment when a roof caves in and before they know it, they’re heading earthward, or one moment they are going in one direction and suddenly find themselves going in the opposite direction, with unanticipated and unexpected consequences.

We love to laugh at the blunders and slip-ups of other people because we often see ourselves in similar situations. In the financial world of household money management, similar gaffes happen too often and they are no laughing or crying matter. To avoid such oversights and missteps, it pays large fiscal dividends to have a household budget or well-oiled financial plan. The price you pay for failing to develop a well defined household budget is a series of budget bloopers.

Income Bloopers

The biggest budget blooper on the income side of a household budget is that many individuals overestimate their income when oping their financial plan. add in hoped for cost of raises, tax refunds, annual ses and salary increases.

Budgets are designed to decrease your expenses and increase your income.

1 you write down your income e positive side of the ledger, sure it reflects exactly what eceive after the appropriate and federal government taxes been extracted. It is much er to increase your budget that extra windfall comes, r than having to reduce line and the bottom line because income fell short.

ense Bloopers

ere are a number of items that ue budget bloopers on the ise side of the average family et. These would include the ving: eaving out major expenses, ch as vehicle or house nsurance or property taxes.

's easy to understand why ese are often forgotten ecause they are not regular onthly expenses and may be lled only once or twice a ear. But leaving these major penses out is like sky diving ithout a parachute. They need be included in the household idget as proportionate onthly line items.

orgetting to include the ollowing line items that ctually every family needs:

Birthday, wedding and other gifts. Most people are faced every year with gifting occasions for parents, siblings, children, grandchildren, friends and coworkers.

Having a gift line item assists you when you need to purchase that extraordinary gift for their special occasion.

Vacations are often shrugged off either as "We don't take vacations," or "We'll see what pops up financially at the time". Planning beforehand for that summer cruise or trip to an amusement park is much smarter than putting it on your credit card and having to pay it back, with interest, over the next several years or so.

3. Overlooking these three words, "maintenance, maintenance, maintenance," when making up your household budget. From the day you purchase your first home, you are constantly faced with maintenance and repairs. They are not necessarily large items, but they do add up. Like a musical ditty: "it's a sprinkler head here, a picture hook there, a few nails there, and spots of paint everywhere."

Aside from the cost of gasoline, vehicles have a way of constantly draining dollars from your wallet. Repairs and maintenance are a necessary part of vehicle ownership. Plan for a timing belt every 60,000 miles, a new battery every five years and brakes every other year.

Writing in two separate line items for household and vehicle maintenance will help keep your home and automobile in top condition.

4. Neglecting the one item that may save your budget roof from collapsing. Every week there are items, such as your child asking for money for his class picture or a magazine subscription, that don't fit into any other budget category. If you don't have a catch-all miscellaneous line item, you may end up paying for these items over time and at a high interest rate, if you have to put them on your credit card.

7. The Ultimate Budget Bloopers Without a doubt, the ultimate budget blooper would be to NOT have a household budget at all. Far too many individuals and families try to get by without a financial plan and then wonder why they are always coming up short when it comes to money management. The person who stated that a person without a budget is like a vehicle without a steering wheel was financially right on. Probably the only two exceptions for not having a household budget would be those who are so wealthy they could never spend all the money they have accumulated, such as billionaire Bill Gates or Warren Buffet, or those who, like two friends of mine did when they got married, make the decision to live on only one salary and bank the other.

The Ultimate Budget Bloopers

In this current economic situation, take a few moments and look over your household budget and see if you have a budget blooper that needs to be turned into a budget bloomer.

Maybe 'The Sermon on the Mount' could be translated as 'The Sermon on the Amount' for those who lack a household budget.

Thank you for recycling in Winslow!

We are here the first Saturday of every month from 9am to 12noon, rain or shine.

Here are some friendly reminders to help the Winslow Recycling Volunteers:

General

- ♻️ Please rinse, dry, smash, and sort your recycling.

Glass

- ♻️ Pre-sort glass into colors (clear/green/brown).
- ♻️ Remove all lids from glass jars – they are usually steel and can be put in with your steel cans.

Plastic

- ♻️ Sort hard plastic (jugs, food containers, etc.) and soft plastic (plastic bags, bread bags, etc) separately.
- ♻️ Yes! In addition to all numbers of hard plastic (1-7), we take all kinds of soft plastic -- bags, bread bags, cereal box liners, bubble wrap, etc. WE DO NOT TAKE STYROFOAM
- ♻️ A good trick is to stuff all the soft plastic into one big plastic bag.

Cardboard/chipboard (cereal boxes, etc.)

- ♻️ Flatten all boxes and containers and separate it out from other paper.

Paper

- ♻️ Separate newspaper from other paper (phone books, magazines, junk mail, wrapping paper, copy paper, receipts, etc.).

Steel versus aluminum

- ♻️ Most canned human food comes in steel cans.
- ♻️ If you are unsure what is steel and what is aluminum, take a magnet to it and if it sticks, it's steel and if not, it's aluminum.
- ♻️ For cat food, 9 Lives is usually steel and the rest are usually aluminum.

Steel

- ♻️ Rinse and dry your cans. Unrinsed cans get particularly nasty over a month's time.

Aluminum

- ♻️ Separate soda/beer cans from other aluminum such as foil, cat food cans, pie plates, etc.
- ♻️ All collected aluminum goes to Winslow Community Meals and they get different prices for the beverage cans versus other aluminum.

Additional Information/Tips

- ♻️ We are looking for volunteers who can commit to one or two recycling Saturdays per year. This is a very easy and fun volunteer job. If you would like to volunteer, email Jim Taylor at jtaylor@winslowville.com or Terry Bumgardner at tbumgar@uark.edu.

- ♻️ Tips for keeping on top of your recycling:
  - ☺️ Rinse your containers as soon as they are empty and drain them in the dish rack along with the rest of the dishes.
  - ☺️ Throw it all together in one recycling container in the house.
  - ☺️ Sort it outside into separate containers when the in-house container is full.
  - ☺️ Big Rubbermaid totes are relatively cheap and weather resistant to keep your recycling organized and dry.

- ♻️ Here are ways you can cut down on precious resource wasting:
  - ☺️ Choose products that have less packaging.
  - ☺️ Buy in bulk.
  - ☺️ Reuse/refill containers when possible.
  - ☺️ Find creative uses for packaging (childrens' arts and crafts, packing material for mailing, etc.).
  - ☺️ Replace single-use with multiple-use products.
  - ☺️ Purchase for long life – saves money/resources in the long-run.

- ♻️ Take “special waste” or “hazardous waste” to the Hazardous Waste Building (2615 Brink Drive) at Washington County’s South Campus in back of McBride Distributing on south 71.
  - ☺️ This includes: tires, scrap metal, electronics (computers, cell phones, cd’s, tapes, etc.), appliances, and household hazardous waste (such as auto fluids, paints, lawn/garden products, batteries, cleaning products, fluorescent tubes and bulbs, swimming pool chemicals, aerosol containers, thermometers, medical syringes, etc).
  - ☺️ Most all of this is free, except for a small fee for more than four tires, some electronics items, and appliances with Freon.
  - ☺️ Call 479-444-1725 or go to www.co.washington.ar.us/EnvironmentalAffairs/special waste.
  - ☺️ Drop off hours: Mon-Fri: 8am-4pm and 1st Sat. of month: 8 am-noon
